

YEAR-ROUND OFFICE PESTS

Whether it's crumbs in the breakroom, spills in the bathroom or hiding spots in nooks and crannies, commercial office properties provide everything that pests need to survive – food, water and shelter. But depending on the season, you might find different pests roaming about.

Pests can cause structural damage or push tenants to find new places to lease. So, take proactive steps towards pest prevention and know that you are doing everything you can to keep your property pest-free.

Here's some tips for keeping these pests out year-round:

- Maintain door sweeps, weather stripping and window screens.
- Repair leaks immediately.
- Remove sources of standing water around the property.
- Keep vegetation trimmed back 60 cm from the building.
- Seal cracks, gaps and holes around doors, windows, walls and utilities.
- Educate tenants about pest prevention.
